Too Many Traps

More Misfortune

A Series of Unfortunate Events

ATTENTION: PLEASE RUN FOR YOUR LIFE!
You have undoubtedly picked up this flyer by mistake.

Dear Reader: - If I were you, I would immediately put this down rather than view any of the dreadful images, read any of the wretched information, play any of the unnerving games or examine any of the unpleasant rules presented within this flyer.

You, the unwary reader, are only a moment away from learning more about A Series Of Unfortunate Events, a terrible collection of perplexing predicaments, ponderances, and badly worded instructions innocuously disguised as a course marker skill gimmick car rallye. If I were you, I would choose any other activity in the world rather than participate in the gloom that this particular event offers.

I have made a solemn vow to present this information to the general public, but there is no reason why you should even consider to find out how to begin the perilous journey into A Series Of Unfortunate Events.

with all due respect,

Lemony Snicket
